6. SAT CS´s input to increase response rates in course evaluation:
   The response rates from last year's final course evaluations have been really low overall and now dropped to a point where there are concerns about their validity. Head of Programs have notified course managers and students to try to increase the response rate for next evaluation round (May 1 to 15). Feedback is important for the continuous development of the programs, courses and teaching.
   Input from SAT as how to improve the response rates would be highly appreciated.
