ITU CAREER WEEKS

Join us for ITU Career Weeks:

A social learning lab, where you and your fellow peers get a professional playground of events and workshops to start forming your career

IT UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN

BUILD YOUR OWN CAREER WEEKS EXPERIENCE

Career Weeks is designed for exploration. Whether you want to meet employers, develop new skills, get career guidance, or simply learn more about different career paths, you can choose the activities that suit you.

Some events require registration. See backside for sign-up information.

ITU Career Weeks kick off

22 September, 10:30–13:00 in Atrium

Meet the ITU Study and Career Guidance team and this semester's career ambassadors – students just like you – who will introduce the Career Weeks programme over a piece of cake in Atrium.

ITU Career Quiz

24 September, 16:00–19:00 in ScrollBar

Rumour has it, something's baking. Drinks, cake, career quiz, and prizes? Yes, please! Together with our friends in ScrollBar, we're serving up a quiz all about careers. A mix of ITU know-how and fun facts about the companies joining IT Match Making. Drop by for a chance to win amazing prizes and boost your career!

Breakfast & Brainfood: Turning Experience into CV skills

28 September, 8:30–9:50 in Scroll-Bar | Sign-up required for catering purposes via NextGen

You may be learning more outside the classroom than you realise. Volunteering, joining a student organisation, working on a startup idea or having a part-time job can all help you build valuable skills. The challenge is knowing how to identify them and communicate them clearly to future employers. In this session, you'll learn how to translate your extra-curricular experiences into concrete skills and examples that strengthen your CV and LinkedIn profile. The session is led by Britt Bargfeldt, Vice President of Group Talent & Development at STARK Group and a mentor at ITU NextGen. We start with breakfast and informal mingling, followed by the talk.

Study Technique Workshop: An interactive escape room experience to level up your study routines

28 September, 16:00–18:00 in Auditorium 2 | Sign-up encouraged

Are you a new student looking to build solid study habits? Are you already an experienced student but feeling slightly stuck? Or maybe you are simply looking for inspiration to upgrade your study strategies? Led by Mads Lønnerup from Supplement, this unique and interactive workshop will help you boost your study skills through an escape-room-inspired mission to Mars! Whether you're just starting out, feeling stuck, or simply looking for fresh inspiration, this session will give you:

- Practical study techniques & mindfulness tools
- Strategies to structure your routine for success
- Fun, hands-on exercises that spark new ideas

How to Land a Student Job with IDA

29 September, 16:00–17:30 in Room 4A56 | Sign-up encouraged

Looking for a student job but unsure where to start? Join this interactive workshop with IDA and gain practical insights into navigating the Danish job market and developing an effective job search strategy. Together, we will explore:

- Understanding the Danish job market
- Job search strategies
- Communicating your skills and experience

The workshop includes hands-on exercises and opportunities to reflect on your own goals, strengths, and career interests.

CV Check with A&Til, Deloitte, and Ørsted

30 September, 9:00–13:00 in Atrium

Need advice on making your CV stand out to employers before bringing it to IT Match Making? Get your CV checked and receive valuable feedback on how to improve it. Don't miss this opportunity to receive feedback on your CV and have an informal advice session with recruitment specialists from A&Til, Deloitte, and Ørsted. No sign-up necessary. Just drop by.

This activity is open to all ITU students. A&Til, Deloitte, and Ørsted work actively with inclusive hiring, including attention to neurodiversity.

Building a Tech Startup: Legal & Accounting Essentials

30 September, 16:00–18:30 in Auditorium 3 (2A56) | Sign-up required for catering purposes via NextGen

Are you considering starting your own company? Join us for an insightful session with an expert attorney and accountant to understand the essential legal and financial aspects of launching a startup. You'll learn about corporate documents, employment and investment agreements, budgeting, taxation, and financial reporting, giving you a solid foundation for your startup. The session features legal insights from Jørgen Bek Weiss Hansen (Lassen Ricard) and financial expertise from Morten Høgh-Pedersen (Grant Thornton). It's ideal for anyone interested in the legal and financial steps of starting a business, whether you have an idea or are just exploring the possibilities. A small meal and refreshments will be served.

IT Match Making

1 October, 10:00–14:30 in Atrium

Looking for a student job? Or are you graduating soon? Join IT Match Making, ITU's career fair, and you might meet your future employer. Whether you are a first-year student or are completing your master's degree, don't miss this opportunity to explore career opportunities, expand your network, and gain valuable insights into the job market. Meet hiring managers interested in recruiting ITU students, and connect with ITU alumni who can share first-hand insights into their career journeys and what it is like to work at their companies.

This activity is open to all ITU students. Many of the participating companies work actively with inclusive hiring, including attention to neurodiversity. See which on the backside of this programme.

Storytelling & Emotional Branding

1 October, 16:00–18:30 in 2F14 (DR-building), ITU | Sign-up required for catering purposes via NextGen

How do you communicate your message, so people listen, remember it, and act on it? In this hands-on workshop, you'll work with the StoryBrand method, a practical communication framework that helps you make your audience the hero of the story and communicate with greater clarity and impact. You'll leave with tools you can use right away, whether you work with marketing, teaching, or developing new projects. Led by branding expert Jackie Luzy, the session is open to all ITU students, with a special focus on entrepreneurs and those curious about branding and communication. There will also be time for a Q&A, and snacks, sodas, and a light meal will be served.
