4. Games external review

SAT discussed the report.

General comments

- SAT thanked the panel for the interesting review report
- We have to remember that there are very few people in a panel so the suggestions are not based on a large group of respondents. Though, it is important to note that much of the content resonates with the students.
- Some suggestions in the report are very unclearly described

- The report shows that we are not clear enough with the vision – the committee did not understand the programme that well
- We are always considering courses and the programme and we would like to acknowledge that

SAT distilled some points worth looking into and Martin will communicate them to relevant people/bodies/departments.

5. DADIU

A few students did not get a seat this year. It has always been the case that there are always been limited budget for seats in DADIU. The only change from the previous years is that DADIU usually carries out interviews to decide the participants. It was not possible this year and the decision was made by rolling a die. But as it is not a rule to have interviews, no rules or regulations have been broken and therefore no complaint option.

Next year Martin will do interviews if DADIU does not carry them out.

6. Summer Games

Martin will make an online event and will talk about Hajo about it. One student might also chip in.

13. AOB

Diversity on the next SAT agenda.
