5. Course Descriptions, from October 2nd

Method for looking at the course description:

- Maybe do an excise at a teacher seminar with course descriptions and student feedback; what do the students actually understand?
- It is hard to know what a course is about from reading the course base text. Should they be elaborated
- We decided to look at the descriptions for the new course base. The standard text is important to have. Then we need a group that could do that.
